The cat Garfield and his owner Jon live in a nice house. But Garfield is actually the ruler of the fridge, the couch and the remote control. He dominates the household and Jon does nearly everything his cat wants.
But his life changes totally when the female vet Liz persuades Jon to take a dog from an animal home which is called Odie.
In fact Garfield and Odie aren't friends. Odie gets on Garfield's nerves. So he wants Odie to leave. One night Jon locks out Garfield because he has ruined his work station. Odie comes to Garfield and wants to stay with him. But Garfield takes his chance, gets inside and locks Odie out. Because of that Odie runs away and is kidnapped by a presenter who wants Odie for a TV show.
Garfield recognizes what he did and so he tries to

I think the film is a comedy for the whole family. It's funny, exciting and there are many humorous situations. Garfield himself is also a lot of fun.
The film also contains a love story between Jon and Liz.
But in my opinion the relationship between Garfield and Odie is the most important one.
