OBEN

Carl Fredericksen's wife is dead. The only thing he has are some memories, his little house and the wish to be an adventurer like Charles Muntz.

Carl was thrown out of his house because of a court decision. But he hasn't got the desire to live in an old people's home. A long time ago he was a ballon seller. Because of that, he ties thousands helium ballons on the roof of his house and flies away. He thinks, that he is alone in the house, but the scout Roussell is there, too. And they experience many adventures.

The director made the film really funny and it is good for all age groups. For me it was a super animation film that you should see in the cinema.
