The 15-years-old Olivia Silber (Liv) lives with her mother Ann, her sister Mia and their Nanni Lottie in London. Liv’s mother fell in love with Ernest Spencer, who has two children, Grayson and Florence. Ernest and Ann are planning to live in the same house and so the Silbers moved into the Spencers’ house. There Liv has strange dreams in which Grayson and his friends Henry, Arthur and Jasper are, too. The four boys know much more than Liv has told them about her, but did in her dreams. When she is on a cemetery one night, she recognizes that they all have the same dream. The five become friends and Liv is a part of a dangerous game. In the end Liv, Henry and Grayson make the ‘game’ an end.

The book was written by Kerstin Gier. I think it is very interesting, because the main idea is good and interesting. You can put yourself in Liv’s situation fast. The main characters are described very well. It’s an experience to read the book.

The second part of this trilogy comes out in July 2014.
