Die Tribute von Panem

The Hunger Games
In the ruins of a place one knows as North America lies the Nation of Panem, a nation parted in 12 districts. The Capitol is strong and cruel, and every year there are cruel games. Every district has to send one boy and one girl in an area where they fight against each other, only one person can win, the only one who lives after this fight to the dead on TV.
She is sixteen years old and one of the 24 girls and boys who have to go to the "Hunger Games". She wasn't chosen but her little sister, and because she was so scared she said that she would go to the games. Everybody thought she will die but if she wins her life would never be the same again: She would be rich and her poor district would get an extra portion of food.